

IMTS (International Machine Tool Show)

McCormick Convention Center

Chicago IL.

September 12, 2012

In order to remain on the cutting edge, in the critical component market, Astro Craft's management arranged for its entire crew of CNC operators and office staff to attend the IMTS event.

This was the third time that the entire ACI (Astro Craft, Inc.) team attended the industry's largest event. The show highlights all that is new and innovative in the machining and fabricating world. ACI employees were able to experience the latest technology available in machining, metrology, fixturing and tooling.

Although there are many reasons for the company to make this investment, none are more important than to reinforce to its employees the importance of finding new and better ways to improve the Lean/Quality Process that ACI initiated when it became ISO Certified in 2004. ACI is constantly improving its processes and reducing set up times by utilizing the state of the art tools that are often discovered at expo's like the IMTS.

ACI management would like to thank everyone for their extra effort in making this day happen. We look forward to continued excellence in machining critical components in the USA!

Thanks Team!
